

Now What? - Day 7

What's Next?

Congratulations!!!

It's been one week since you've made the greatest decision ever! We hope these past seven days we've been able to help guide you into your new relationship with Jesus. You may be asking yourself, "what's next?"

Just keep coming back; that may seem simple, but if you want this new relationship to get stronger, it is essential that you keep coming back to church, keep connecting with other believers, and keep growing in your faith.

We realize that we may haven't been able to answer every question you have about this new journey you're on, but we want to continue to walk with you in this new relationship.

We can't wait to see you back at church this Sunday!
